

I believe that the 160 meter amateur band needs segmentation as proposed in this rule. New technologies and equipment have necessitated this rule change. Digital communications are now causing interference to other traditional modes. The digital modes need to be segregated into their own subband to prevent said interference.